Panel A

Figure 4. Relating affect to performance across people over time. The red circles demonstrate the between person correlation at time point six. A typical time-varying covariates model constrains the correlation to be equivalent across time. Here, the relationship is unconstrained at each time point.